FIRST ARMY CLOSES IN ON BURNING AACHEN

The War
Today...By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

THE IMMINENT DENOUEMENT of the strange battle for ancient Aachen, which the Germans made a key position in their Siegfried line, is likely to make it easier for us to estimate our prospects of achieving a quick knockout of Hitler.

Here let it be recorded that there is not the slightest cause for anxiety over the progress of the Allied offensive, though we may be entitled to grouse a bit over the unfriendly weather. There's nothing strange in the fact that we are encountering fierce resistance on the German frontier, for that was a foregone conclusion.

As a matter of fact there are increasing signs that Hitler's remaining strength may shortly be put to the supreme test of concerted all-out offensives in both eastern and western Europe. The defense upon which the Fuehrer is depending heavily is to impede Allied preparations until the bad weather comes to his rescue.

As for Aachen, it has been no easy nut to crack. The Nazis picked it for defensive purposes because of its railway and highway center, and because it lies in a hollow and is surrounded by heights—a strong point by nature. It's a shield for neighboring Cologne and the gateway into the Ruhr.

The battle of Aachen gives us useful guidance on several important questions. For one thing it emphasizes that Hitler intends to fight to a bloody finish, ruthlessly sacrificing not only military but civilian lives, and inviting the destruction of proud cities like this one-time center of culture for western Europe.

Again it is demonstrated that the Nazi elite has fanatical commanding officers who are ready to die for the German command. In Aachen did their best—or one might better say their most cruel worst—to prevent the surrender not only of their soldiers but of civilians before the American ultimatum expired.

HOWEVER, we also learn that not all German soldiers or officers by any means are prepared to die for the dictator. Many of the German citizens who hadn't been vaccinated with white flags from their houses in an effort to surrender. A lot of German soldiers also wanted to give themselves up, and a considerable number did, but others were prevented from surrendering by their officers, who employed both ruse and murder.

First the Nazi officers did the

Youngstown Mother, 31,
Is Jailed In Neglect Case

YOUNGSTOWN, Oct. 12.—The 31-year-old mother of four children, who police said is receiving money from both her first and second husbands, was sentenced yesterday to a year in the county jail and fined $50 for neglecting the children.

The mother, Mrs. Mary Mulag, was sentenced by Juvenile Court Judge Henry P. Beckenbach after she testified that she found her four-year-old child in the morning. When they went to her home they found two half-kept children huddled on a bed to keep warm and a 12-year-old boy attempting to feed a sick baby, the officers reported.

After court ordered the children placed in a charity home.

1,000 PLANE
ALLIED RAID
HITS FORMOSAJap Broadcast Tells of 8-
Hour Battle Over China
Coast Bastion

(By Associated Press)

A 1,000-plane raid on Formosa today was reported by Tokyo radio which said Allied planes attacked the fortress-like island off the China coast from early morning until mid-afternoon (Japanese time).

The broadcast, heard by the Federal Communications commission, said attacks were directed against the "entire area" of Takao, Tainan and Taichu, three of the most important towns on the island. All three are on the railway which runs the length of the island. Tainan and Tokyo are ports on the southwestern shore.

A broadcast beamed to Italy indicated that other towns along the railway were hit by "fighter and bomber planes."

An Imperial communiqué reported that "enemy aircraft" came over at 7 a. m. (Tokyo time) "in strength" and the air "battle was continuing" eight hours later.

Tokyo claimed that in the first six hours of the mass assault "approximately 100 enemy planes" were shot down.

"The enemy continued to carry out his persistent attack," Tokyo said, "raiding with a total of 1,000 planes."

The reported mass raid came on the heels of expressed Japanese fears that the powerful American aircraft carrier force which hurled its planes two days earlier at the nearby Ryukyu islands was "still lurking" in the area.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz has announced that 80 planes and 58 "surprise" craft were destroyed in the Ryukyu islands where the Japanese were caught completely by surprise.

Formosa was raided a number of times by small groups of land-based bombers of the 14th U. S. air force before they lost most of their forward bases in East China.

"So long as Formosa is in the hands of the Japanese," Nimitz said earlier this week, "it will be a very strong point as they can continue to supply it with air power."

The Ryukyu islands lie between Formosa and Japan proper.

Air bases on Formosa presumably would have to be neutralized before Nimitz carries out his announced plan to land amphibious forces on the China coast.

While the raid was in progress, a Japanese Domei (news) agency reported said, Adm. Kiyoshi Hasegawa, governor general of Formosa, was received by Emperor Hirohito for 20 minutes to make "a detailed report on wartime Formosa."

Hasegawa has been in Tokyo for a week.

"So they have come at last," Domei quoted the admiral as saying when he heard of the raid. "The enemy is very audacious, but we, too, have made every preparation to meet him."

Tokyo radio reported that nearly 100 Liberators and 30 escorting fighters had smashed the important Borneo oil refinery at Balikpapan Tuesday morning. There was no Allied confirmation.

2 NEGLEY SOLDIERS
ON LIST OF MISSING

LIBSON, Oct. 12.—Two Negley soldiers were reported missing in action today.

They are Pvt. Henry D. Whislar, 22, an artilleryman with the First Army in Germany, and Pvt. Robert L. Mackall, 21, an infantryman serving in Belgium.

Pvt. Whislar is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Whislar, and Pvt. Mackall is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Cleaver Mackall.

The War department advised Mrs. Anna Pearson of East Liverpool, that her son, Pfc. Robert G. Pearson, an infantryman, previously reported missing, is a prisoner of war in Germany.

Pvt. Dale Brindley, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brindley, also of East Liverpool, was wounded Sept. 25 while serving in Belgium.

Hard Job Confronts
Allies But Victory Is Certain, Eisenhower

By EDWARD KENNEDY

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS,
Allied Expeditionary Force, Oct. 12
—Gen. Eisenhower declared today
"We have a hard job ahead but victory is certain."

He is resolved on one thing: That the fight will continue unabated through the winter, if necessary, and as much longer as it may take to crush the enemy. There may be pauses in the Allied advances due to the ferocity of German resistance and our own supply problems, but there will be no letup in aggressive action on the part of the Allies.

The present destruction of Aachen by the American First army following the refusal of the German commander to surrender to spare the town is a matter of field tactics rather than general American policy toward German cities, he said. Field commanders, it was made clear, can use their own methods as long as they observe the rules of war.

Sudden End Possible

While the general regards a sudden German collapse as always a possibility, he sees no reason to rely on its coming at any given time. The threat of the Red army in the east and the Allied army on German soil in the west can have no effect on the leaders who face the loss of everything, once they admit defeat, in Eisenhower's opinion.

He told correspondents today: "I have every confidence in the peoples of the United States, Great Britain, France and all the United Nations to see this war through to final victory, and as long as they will see it through, I know that they will possess the indomitable will to win. We have a hard job ahead but victory is certain."

"In Germany, there will be no fraternization," the commander said. "We go in as conquerors. We shall treat them justly in conformity with civilized standards as exemplified by our governments. We will have nothing else to do with them except in necessary official relationships."

He said that the commander of the 14th U. S. air force before they lost most of their forward bases in East China.

"So long as Formosa is in the hands of the Japanese," Nimitz said earlier this week, "it will be a very strong point as they can continue to supply it with air power."

Ancient Aachen—Doomed to Be Ruined

Here is an airview of the medieval German city of Aachen, population 165,000, which has been encircled by the Yanks and is being pounded by land and air. In the center foreground is the City Hall (Rathaus), which in part dates back to the Carolingian Emperors of the Holy Roman Empire.

Authority On Japan, China
To Debate With Young Here

With an intimate knowledge of Japan as well as China, John Goette, dean of foreign correspondents in China, will appear at the High school auditorium at 8 p. m. next Monday in a debate with James R. Young, an authority on Japan, on our future Asiatic policy.

This debate will open the third season's Town Hall meetings, which are open to the public without charge. Public-spirited citizens again are contributing to the fund which will provide five or six meetings.

After graduating from Temple university in his home city of Philadelphia, Goette served two years in European waters with the U. S. Navy during World War I. Then he went to India where he enrolled in the Moslem university at Aligarh. It was here that he began to lay the foundation for a career in the Orient.

He became a correspondent for International News Service in China. With Peking as headquarters, he traveled all over the country. He saw the real beginning of World War II at Marco Polo bridge. From China he was sent to Geneva to cover the League of Nations sessions, then home to be a member of Queen Marie's entourage when she visited the United States.

With the outbreak of the Sino-Japanese hostilities, back he went to the Orient, assigned by INS to travel with the Japanese army. The story of his experiences with the Japanese sounds like a fairy story. He ate dried octopus for breakfast, got to know the Japanese, flew 10,000 miles with the Jap Air force, visited every province in occupied North China, was accepted by the Japanese and had the honor of being locked up with them when they were jailed. It is a commentary on the curious workings of the Japanese mind that Goette was ever permitted to return to this country. He returned as an exchange prisoner on the Gripsholm.

While on leave of absence from INS, he recently wrote "Japan Fights For Asia."

He will be in the city of Philadelphia, Oct. 12.—A hearing to consider the advisability of erecting artificial lights along the streets in this community, will be held by Goshen township trustees in the High school building at 8 p. m. on Oct. 24.

The action is being taken as a result of a petition filed with the trustees by property owners in the community.

MELEL SIEGE
GROWS FIERCERussians, Inside Metropolitan Area, Five Miles
From Port

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Russian troops battled within five miles of the Prussian port of Memel today in a siege of growing ferocity after German soil by occupying the town of Pilske inside the Memel metropolitan area, acquired by Germany in the spring of 1939.

In the south, the Moscow radio said, other Russians broke into Debrecen, third largest Hungarian city of 122,517, on the Orient railroad 116 miles east of menaced Budapest. The Germans said their tanks had thrown a 20-mile-wide ring around strong Soviet armored forces in this area and had beaten back relief columns moving up from Oradea, in Romania, and Karagay, in Hungary. The German communiqué acknowledged the loss of Cluj, capital of Transylvania.

All along the frontiers of East Prussia, the Germans reported violent battle.

A "concentric attack" was launched against Memel with more than 200 Russian tanks, Berlin said. Of these 98 were reported destroyed, 15 by guns of German warships supporting the beleaguered garrison.

Soviet attacks north of Warsaw and south of Rozan on the historic Narew river were checked, the enemy asserted, as was another thrust from the Lithuanian frontier town of Vilkauskis toward the east frontier of East Prussia.

The Germans said the Red army had renewed its assault on Riga, capital of Latvia, with fresh divisions and materiel.

The revised procedure transfers to OPA most of the rationing operation since the majority of current applications are for temporary allocations, the agencies said.

Enemy Ready
To Withdraw
From Holland

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Oct. 12.—The U. S. First army closed in on burning Aachen today in an action which the Berlin radio called "the greatest battle ever fought on the western front" while to the north and west there appeared signs of a possible Nazi breakup in Holland.

It was disclosed that a crew of 6,000 German demolition experts had blown up more than 10 miles of quays and docks during the last 10 days in Rotterdam, Holland's second city and biggest port. Roads around Rotterdam were clogged with Nazi transports, moving generally to the south and east.

On the south bank of the Neder Rhine the Germans suddenly abandoned a stretch between Arnhem and Rotterdam.

AP War Correspondent Don Whitehead gave a detailed account of what was happening to the city.

American infantry began to close in from the north and northeast, he said, after divebombers and more than 200 big guns, including the heaviest of American field pieces, had resumed yesterday's blasting of the burning city.

Two enemy columns totaling about a division in strength which attempted to reinforce the German garrison were shattered and turned back at dusk yesterday. Then the big guns were swung again to send smoke and flame mushrooming up from the city.

A front dispatch said the factory section on Aachen's northeastern outskirts had been cleared by doughboys who met only slight sniper resistance. An American patrol had penetrated the city proper yesterday.

The smoke cast a pall over the sprawling German border city as the infantrymen moved against it.

Heavy Bomber Attack

Medium bombers swept in late yesterday and for five hours rained explosives upon the wrecked and ready-piled up. A bright sun shone over the scene today.

Meanwhile Allied troops improved their positions both north and south of the Aachen breach in the Siegfried line.

The Supreme command said that west of Arnhem in Holland the Germans had withdrawn from one area on the south bank of the Neder Rhine. Fighters and fighter bombers shot up and bombed enemy strongpoints and troops in that area.

Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Germans in the Haaren area north of Aachen as counter-attacks were beaten off. Enemy infantry and tanks were engaged in Bardenberg on that sector.

Southeast of besieged Aachen in Bardenberg on that sector.

Southeast of besieged Aachen American troops cut through strong resistance and thrust across the Mönchshaus-Duren road, a mile from Herten.

A small force of Flying Fortresses struck at the Rhineland cities of Coblenz and Cologne yesterday and RAF Lancasters hit objectives in Holland. A communiqué said heavy clouds necessitated the use of special instruments to get the bombs away—a technique apparently adapted for high altitude bombing over a comparatively small target area like Aachen—especially when it is virtually ringed by U. S. troops.

Master or Captive?

Speaking of why rope shouldn't be mentioned in the house of a man who has been hanged, as Candidate Roosevelt did recently, he might wish that Sidney Hillman wouldn't speak overly much about minorities interested in election of presidential candidates. When it comes to the matter of minorities, Mr. Roosevelt has the world's prize collection.

There are the minorities that Mr. Hillman speaks for and that Earl Browder speaks for. Mr. Hillman says there is no connection between them. Likewise, there is no connection with the minority that is lumped under AFL, which no one speaks for officially, but Mr. Roosevelt thinks he is going to carry on Nov. 7.

There are ordinary Democrats, a minority which has no connection with any other minority back of Mr. Roosevelt, least of all the highly vocal minority of the party's southern membership which is at odds with every other minority in the party and would abandon it forthwith were its chances of survival not pinned on the coat-tails of Franklin D. Roosevelt. There are the city machines run by hard-eyed political bosses who have nothing in common with anyone except each other. There is the lunatic fringe that hangs on every party. There are racial and religious minorities—and Mr. Roosevelt tries to make all of them happy. It raises the question of whether he is running them, or they are running him—a question that gets insistent when the people see their chief executive wheeling a man named Petrillo, who runs one little minority; defending his war labor board against union leaders who have marked it for extinction; juggling Mr. Hillman and Boss Hague, Harry Hopkins and Harry Byrd; and not campaigning for 16 years in the presidency "in the usual sense" despite the stern reports from his practical advisors that unless he rises to the occasion a lot of them will be looking for jobs next January.

A Ticklish Predicament

It is a ticklish predicament that some of the New Deal's defenders have created by warning critics they must not mention its Communist support, unless they use words of praise, lest Russia take offense.

In May, 1943, the executive committee of the Comintern meeting in Moscow, announced its own dissolution, which automatically ended all association between the Russian Communist party and Communists in other countries. It was in recognition of their changed status that Communists in the United States disbanded as a political party last January and formally abandoned action at the polls as a means of fulfilling their aims for the United States. In other words, a Communist in the United States is not supposed to have any connection whatever with a Communist in Russia; Earl Browder and his associates are as home-grown as Victory Garden tomatoes and when we call them names it is the same as insulting a person by calling him a Tory or a radical, as the case may be.

When a New Deal defender screams, as some of them have been screaming lately, that Mr. Browder must be left out of this campaign lest the Communist party of Russia take offense, he is practically saying that the dissolution of the Comintern was never meant to be taken seriously and Brother Browder is still carrying political water on both shoulders.

What's Wrong With This Picture?

When a correspondent of the Wall Street Journal called on OWI officials recently to inquire about their post-war plans, he found them looking ahead to a peacetime program of national unity through official publicity. This wartime agency, the correspondent learned, can think of many things that could be hammered home in peacetime by government propaganda—many issues on which the populace would need to be set straight by Washington propaganda.

This is more, of course, than the traditional instinct of self-preservation among government agencies. OWI is in a special category, a category created by the exigencies of war which made it possible for the government to surround itself with secrecy. Even after an agency of war information was created to act as an official outlet, it was only with extreme difficulty that newspapers were able to obtain news. The government tendency to exclude the public from information which officials feel it should not have and to spoon-feed it the information which officials want it to have has run strong in OWI. It will run through the end of the war into peace unless checked sharply by the reminder that if the American people ever get ready for a federal bureau of propaganda at their own expense they will ask for it through their congressmen, not take it ready-made by executive edict.

The Stars Say

For Friday, October 13

Judging by the major lunar transits there may be need for some very sound enduring and rebuilding of outworn or demolished structures, devastated by a swift blow or some sort of sudden reversal or attack on established foundations. It may require shrewd and tactful management, with diligence, concentrated energies and common sense to mend whatever breakdowns there may be. These might be attributed to forced changes, accident or other unforeseen visitations. Safeguard funds, side step quarrels, progress sturdily and there may be happiness and possibly romantic adventure, with a degree of public appreciation.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of sound and steady progress, following a sudden disruption or breakdown, coming with swift and devastating force or fury. It might be accident, unwilling change, an estrangement or disagreement. But a determined effort to "pick up the pieces," to work with concentration and purpose may result in surprising reconstructive crises, with eventual happiness. In the offing are rewards well worth aiming for.

A child born on this day may have sound and sturdy qualities, although impulsive and perhaps erratic at times. It may be subject to reversals and financial fluctuations, but find rewards for diligence and fortitude.

The Lesson of Warsaw

By James Thrasher

Warsaw was the first European capital to fall in World War II. And now the cynical may say that it was also the first capital to fall in the rising conflict of disension which threatens to involve great sections of Europe in postwar civil strife. The Nazis are once again masters of the city, after a two-months battle against a heroic underground army that fought and died for Poland while an outside political struggle sickened and isolated and finally doomed it.

The Second Battle of Warsaw might well be called the Battle of the Sphere of Influence. Its story has already been told in Yugoslavia, and threatens to be repeated in Greece. In each case an exiled prewar government, supported by London, has been pitted against suppressed minority groups which have rallied to hitherto little-known leaders and flourished with Moscow's blessing.

Charge and counter-charge have thundered back and forth until it is impossible to know precisely what has happened. Nor can it be said who is right or wrong, for at the moment right or wrong is a matter of a person's political complexion. The only ones who can or should make the final judgment are the people of the countries involved. And that judgment should be the decision of a free election when the war is over.

In the meantime the job is to fight the Germans. Instead, we know that Greek has killed Greek, and Serb and Croat have turned their guns on one another. No one has gained but the Nazis. It is a situation they have fostered and hoped for. And they will continue to foster it as long as they can, for they base their hope of escaping complete defeat on disension. It is their no-longer-secret weapon.

It is tragic, disheartening thing that the men of Warsaw could not die in the knowledge that they had dealt a telling blow against the forces that tortured them and robbed them of their freedom. Instead it was in the knowledge that they were caught between the millstones of stubborn political concepts.

Mr. Churchill has told Parliament that the struggle of General Bor and his underground forces "will remain a deathless memory for Poland and for friends of freedom all over the world." But it must also remain the memory of a hopeless cause, of a united effort within defeated from without by the short-sightedness of all factions who could not compose their differences for the sake of victory and human lives.

The death of hungry, almost weaponless Polish soldiers, the crushing of an army and the capture of its brave general, the temporary loss of Warsaw—all these must stand as a rebuke to those who did too little too late, and too grudgingly.

Scientific Study of Blood Cells

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
"SHE (OR HE) looks anemic. Don't you think something to build up the blood would be a good thing?" The doctor often hears

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

this suggestion from an anxious mother, wife or husband. Or the parents hear it from a solicitous neighbor.

Sometimes the suggestion is justified. The doctor may be so preoccupied with the primary disease that he overlooks the secondary damage it has done to the blood, and the correction of this by a diet rich in iron may turn the scales and start the invalid on the road to recovery.

There is one thing sure. If the doctor thinks the suggestion is pertinent he can find out exactly and in the most scientific way all about the condition of his patient's blood. Our knowledge on the subject is most complete.

Blood a Tissue
The blood is a tissue just as muscle or bone or liver are tissues. It consists of cells and matrix or intercellular substance. The only peculiarity in the case of the blood is that the intercellular substance is fluid. It has to be because the function of the blood is that of a messenger to carry chemical substances from one part of the body to the other, and a messenger has to be fluid. He has to be able to move.

When the pathologist pricks your finger or your ear lobe to get a drop of blood, it looks like an opaque red drop. But you know by experience that if you put the drop on a glass surface, or collect enough blood in a test tube to see the phenomenon easily that it will separate out into a hard, sticky, tenacious red clotted part, and a clear straw-colored fluid. The clear fluid, or serum, contains most of the chemicals that the blood carries from tissue to tissue, and the red part contains the blood cells.

It is these blood cells that are deficient in cases of anemia.

We have modern means of studying them very completely. As long ago as about 1870, a German professor of medicine marked off a space on a capillary tube so that it would contain exactly one cubic millimeter and filled it with his own blood and then emptied that blood out on a microscope slide, and with the aid of the microscope counted every one of the red blood cells. He found there were six million. And on counting the same amount of blood taken from a number of his associates he found that in all healthy humans that amount was absolutely constant.

Modern Methods of Counting
But counting up to six million is quite a chore, and the modern laboratory technician has simplified it by diluting the blood very exactly in salt solution and putting it in one of the finest calibrated chambers you ever saw and counting only the number of red cells in a given square and correcting by multiplication, he can give you the number of red cells you have in about five minutes. And since the original observations it has been confirmed over and over that all healthy human beings from birth to old age, male and female, have about six million cells per cubic millimeter.

After you have given blood to the blood bank your count goes down for a week or two. You have, in fact, a mild secondary anemia. Your bone marrow, which is the manufacturing plant for red blood cells soon makes this up. When a disease like influenza or some other infection, knocks out your bone marrow your count goes down and here the treatment is to give food or drugs which stimulate the marrow—liver, spinach, red meat, iron and arsenic. The pathologist will also estimate

112-Year-Old Patriarch Superstitious About Age

DENVER—Pray, drink, smoke and rail at Hitler, but don't talk about your age!

That's Max Cohen's personal recipe for longevity; he now is 112. Cohen smokes a pipe, cigarettes and cigars, and enjoys a drink of beer, wine or "schnapps." He prays devoutly three times a day, and frequently, he admits, refers to Hitler in uncomplimentary terms. But he thinks it bad luck to boast about his age.

POSTWAR COMPETITION

Among the numerous economic problems that are facing the institution of private enterprise today there is one which in importance I believe, ranks above all the rest. That problem has to do with Russia—with her intestinal economy and her spectacular rise to a position in international affairs, key position in the postwar field.

The economic position that Russia will occupy in the postwar field of trade will be akin to absolutism: of private enterprise, made up of numerous independent groups such as monopolies, trusts, pools, etc., Russia has co-ordinated all of such units under the management and control of a centralized body.

This means that Russia as a nation has risen to the status of a trust—a monopoly against which private enterprise must compete after the war.

How to do that successfully is the problem we are up against. In trying to solve that problem, it has been discovered that the economic setup of Russia can neither be improved upon nor surpassed in efficiency and that to adopt it ourselves would be to disrupt our own institution of private enterprise.

It would therefore seem that the American way of life has reached an impasse where we must decide either to adopt the economy of Russia or try to disrupt it by physical force.

No doubt we shall decide to do the latter. Indeed judging by the campaign of vilification, innuendo, discreditation, ridicule and misrepresentation that is at present being directed against the Russian regime, one might say that we are already in the incipient stage of that war.

The urge of the Russian way of life, however, is so persistent that another world war, if successful, would only bring temporary results, for the very underlying her philosophy cannot be destroyed. Should it be brought low by physical force it would rise again. It cannot be otherwise, for in the course of evolution the final state of a cooperative trend would naturally be one of complete unity.

Of course we do not all reason that way. Conspicuous among those who do not is Dewey. According to the tenor of his campaign speeches, he believes that human desire rather than evolution is the obtaining factor of life.

Doubtless it is because of this belief that he has been condemning the only effort that has thus far been made towards solving the problem here in question.

Whether that effort, the New Deal is the proper procedure for meeting the situation successfully, is neither here nor there. The point is that the author of the New Deal has at least foreseen that which is to come and that he has been trying to ease into it without disturbing the American way of life any more than necessary.

It would be interesting to hear Dewey explain how he would do it—how he would meet the challenge of an absolute trust with his economy of private enterprise—a regime that is divided into integral parts with each part functioning independently of the rest and with all of them stubbornly resisting government control. Perhaps he would invest the United States Chamber of Commerce with extra power for regulating the foreign affairs of private enterprise and would appoint the federal government to perform the functions of a private police agency.

East Is Meat Hungry

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The American Meat Institute said today New Yorkers were being forced to content themselves with hamburgers, meat balls, stews and other dishes prepared from utility meat because less than 10 per cent of the prewar normal supply of the two top grades of beef was reaching the Italian trade in New York City.

Presbyterians Attend Rally Wednesday

Approximately 100 women attended the meeting of Women's Missionary societies of the East Palestine-Salem area of the Mahoning Presbyterial at the Presbyterian church here Wednesday.

The all-day session was in charge of Mrs. C. E. Riddle of Columbiana, district president. Those attending were from Columbiana, Concord, East Palestine, Elsworth, Leetonia, Lisbon, New Waterford, Petersburg and Salem.

Miss Nell Adam of Leetonia led the worship service. Mrs. Norma Moore of Canton gave an interesting introduction to the mission study books, emphasizing the value of missionary education.

An address on "The Presbyterian Church and World Order" was given by Rev. Garrit Labotz, pastor of the Coitsville Presbyterian church.

Rev. and Mrs. Herbert W. Stewart, former missionaries in Thailand discussed the work of educating and advancement of women and girls in that country and outlined the plan of giving home mission work to these workers who are now in America, awaiting the chance to return to foreign fields when war conditions permit.

Mrs. Labotz, president of the Mahoning Presbyterial spoke on the goals to be aimed for this year of mission groups.

Entertainment included vocal solos, "The Tender Hands of Jesus," Mrs. Raymond Silver, accompanied by Mrs. E. E. Dyball. An address on national missions was given by Miss Janet Ross of the Glen Robbins, O., director of the Christian Community house, kindergarten, schoolroom, recreation, mothers club, Sunday school and church center for the mining community of 500 people.

Lunch was served by the November committee of the Women's Association, with Mrs. Elizabeth Feuts as chairman.

Mrs. V. R. McBane and Miss Erna Hoopes are presidents of the two local church mission groups, the Anne B. Gilbert auxiliary and the Women's Missionary society.

The latter society will have a Thank-offering service at the church Nov. 8.

Navy Mothers Discuss Yule Gift Program

A report on the work of sending Christmas gifts to Navy personnel was presented by Mrs. Christie Hanson at the Navy Mothers club meeting Wednesday night in the club rooms in the Ohio-Edition building.

Pocket editions of popular fiction works, calendars and stationery will be sent, the chairman reported, to both overseas and continental personnel.

Mothers will sew for Navy hospitals each week on Monday and Tuesday afternoons at the Red Cross sewing rooms in the Memorial building. The work will begin this week.

A letter from National Commander Mrs. C. P. Kildahl of Omaha, Neb., reporting on national projects and activities, giving instructions for packages for Navy men and women and urging co-operation in all branches of the club's work.

The group voted to contribute $10 to the Community War chest fund.

Mrs. Lawrence Kearcher was named chairman of the October ways and means committee and Mrs. Drexel Knoedler, chairman for November. The latter chairman and her group will be in charge of the Nov. 9 benefit card party.

The following Navy personnel were listed as birthdays: Oct. 23, A. S. Donald P. Milligan; Oct. 27, SF 1/S Thomas Beardmore; Nov. 1, Seaman First Class Galen E. Duncan; Nov. 8 MM 1/C Percy John Karlis; Nov. 14, Seaman First Class Edward Birkhimer; Nov. 16 A/C Herbert J. Hansell.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 8.

Couple to Be Honored At Open House Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Coffee of R. D. 2, Salem, will hold open house at their home Sunday honoring their son and his bride, Carpenters Mate Third Class and Mrs. Gilmer Coffee, whose wedding was an event of Sept. 29.

CM Coffee has recently returned from 20 months' service with the Seabees in the South Pacific. He will leave Oct. 21 for Davisville, R. I., where he will be given a new assignment. Mrs. Coffee is the former Miss Dorothy Volaw.

Friends will be received at the home from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m.

Dames of Malta Plan Installation Tonight

Annual installation of officers will be held at the K. of P. hall tonight by Peace sisterhood No. 189, Dames of Malta. Miss Gwen Dean will be inducted as queen. Guests from Niles and Youngstown will include the sovereign protector, Mrs. Rose Tricker of Niles and Mrs. Catharin Witherspoon of Youngstown, deputy, who will be installing officers.

Group to Meet Friday At Christian Church

Women's Missionary society of the Christian church will meet at the church at 2:30 p. m. Friday, Mrs. C. F. Evans and her division will be in charge of the program. The executive committee will meet at 1:45.

Mrs. Mangus Is Hostess To Methodist Group 2

Group 2 of the Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service, meeting yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Mangus on Highland ave., enjoyed a program on China.

Mrs. J. A. Scott described the work of Methodist missionaries in China and gave a report of the recent W.S. C.S. conference in Cleveland.

Mrs. Harold Bachman presented a paper on Madame Chiang Kai-Shek. Devotional service was led by Mrs. D. H. Rummell.

Music for the program included vocal numbers, "The Last Rose of Summer" and "Comin' Through the Rye." Mrs. Steven Odoran, accompanied.

The group will meet Nov. 8 at the home of Mrs. Rummell, N. Lincoln ave.

Group 3 members made plans for a birthday luncheon Nov. 8 at a meeting yesterday at the church.

The affair will be held at the church, honoring members whose birthdays are in the last six months. Mrs. R. A. Ohl led the devotional service.

Eighteen members attended a meeting of Group 5 at the home of Mrs. A. B. Combs on Superior ave. Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Klotzly was in charge of the devotional service, reading from the book of Ecclesiastes and a poem.

Mrs. Arch Wentz described Trinity church in Youngstown and Mrs. Chester Cope had a reading on missions. Halloween appointments were featured in the lunch which was served by the hostess and her associates, Mrs. Paul Patterson and Mrs. Warren Everhart.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 8 at the home of Mrs. Samuel Bruder, 449 E. Third st.

A review of the book, "For All of Life" by William H. and Charlotte W. Wiser was presented by Mrs. Robert Rheutan at a meeting of Group 6 at the home of Mrs. R. E. Coe on Jennings ave. yesterday.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. O. C. Hoover, following devotional service led by Mrs. E. E. Bon-sall.

Hostesses who served refreshments were Mrs. Coe, Mrs. A. C. Yengling and Mrs. E. T. Trebilcock.

The Nov. 8 session will be held at the home of Mrs. C. W. Kaminsky on N. Ellsworth ave.

Patriarch Auxiliary Meeting Cancelled

The meeting of the Ladies auxiliary No. 8, Patriarch's Militant, scheduled for Friday night, has been cancelled to permit members to attend the Rebekahs district school of instruction at Alliance that night.

The next auxiliary session will be held Nov. 10, featuring a covered dinner and annual inspection. Members are invited to attend a battalion conference at Youngstown Monday evening, Oct. 10, for lodges in the Warren, Niles, Youngstown and Salem battalions.

Denies Theft Charges

COLUMBUS, Oct. 12—Robert W. Anderson, 28, of Mt. Vernon, pleaded innocent on arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Robert Newlon on charges of theft of government property at the Marion, O., ordnance depot.

Anderson was released on $1,000 bond yesterday and his hearing set for next Wednesday. Newlon said he was charged with taking tools from tool boxes on cranes.

It Was too Much for Police and Sinatra

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—Heavy police reinforcements were dispatched to Times Square today as a police-estimated crowd of 25,000 teen-aged Frank Sinatra fans stormed the Paramount theater where the singer is appearing on the stage.

The shrieking, shouting crowd rushed police lines about the theater, ripped the shirt of one patrolman and smashed the window of the theater's ticket booth. Several persons fainted in the street. Police said the Columbus day holiday was responsible for the extra-large crowds of school-age boys and girls.

More than 200 policemen were stationed in the area shortly before noon after several outbreaks of disorder in the early morning. An estimated 2,000 girls in sweaters, bobby socks and saddle shoes and boys in polka-dotted bow ties were at the theater at 7 a. m., police said.

Acting Assistant Chief Police Inspector John W. Conway estimated the crowds at 25,000 at 11 a. m. In addition to about 5,000 inside the theater.

The outbursts were too much even for Sinatra, who several times asked for quiet and threatened to forget about the show unless the uproar subsided.

Hair Kept For Many Years Aids Government

DAMASCUS, Oct. 12—Corp. Donald Delzell has received a letter from the Friez Instrument division of the Bendix Aviation Corp. of Baltimore, Md., thanking him for the gift of two and one-fourth ounces of hair which belonged to his mother previous to her death during his early childhood.

A sum equaling $250 per ounce was sent to the Red Cross and USO for use in their work.

The 28-inch tresses were used in the manufacture of Radiosonde for broadcasting weather conditions of the stratosphere, humidity recorders and other confidential instruments for the United States government.

Hair used for this purpose must be naturally blonde, straight, untouched by chemicals, hot irons and waving machines and at least 14 inches in length.

Corp. Delzell is stationed with the Army Air Forces in India.

Says Japs Hope Yanks Will Grow War Weary

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—Undersecretary of the Navy Ralph A. Bard declared today the Japanese are playing for time in the hope that "a great wave of war weariness" in America will bring them a compromise peace.

Bard, speaking before a Community War fund luncheon in Washington, declared, however, that "if we settle for anything less than a total knockout it simply means that we will have to let our men down and set the stage for another war—a war their children will have to wage."

LEAVES FROM A WAR CORRESPONDENT'S NOTEBOOK by Hal Boyle

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN BELGIUM, Oct. 7.—(Delayed.)—The greatest "booby traps" in Belgium were not those left by the Germans. They are those created by Dutch and Belgian kids to ensnare the candy and chewing gum of American troops.

The younger generation in these two small countries has set out to corral all the sweets and cigarettes in the pockets of the American army and the kids know more ways to levy tribute than Robin Hood and Jesse James put together.

In ten minutes, a gang of these junior highwaymen can strip a whole column of soldiers of every "booby" and straggle cigarette in their packs. All the while they give the impression of conferring a favor, which certainly is salesman-ship of the highest order.

They are tightly organized and they work together without much bloodshed. Although occasionally one may get division of the spoils, a quarrel has been a victim several times. I am completely acquainted with their snares. This is how they operate against the defenseless troops.

You are driving along a road wondering how the St. Louis Browns ever got into a World Series when you pass a little girl about seven years old holding up a basket of ripe tomatoes and shouting "Vive Les Americains."

You don't stop—wherever stopped an automobile to consume anything as revolting as a tomato?—So you pass by politely following "Vive Les Belges." About 75 feet farther on you pass a small boy holding up "free" apples.

Then You Stop
You sweep past him and then come to a little girl holding up a bottle of wine and a glass. Some-thing right in front of the bottle, the little girl pours you a glass and watches closely as you lift it to your lips. The second you drink it she lets out a yell—and the fields become black with scores of small boys and girls rushing in for the kill. You are in debt now and fair game.

"Benches! Chocolate! Shooting guns! Cigarette pour papa!" They chant as the jeep begins to buckle under the weight of their swaying bodies. Little hands clutch at your necktie, paw at your jacket, thump your musette bag, pat your pockets.

There is no refusal, no escape. You claw frantically through your trousers and your pack, grabbing everything edible to silence the clamor of this sub-teen-age human well pack. You fling candy and cigarettes as far as possible and when the kids sweep away to re-trieve them, you scrape the last little yelling monster off you scalp, heave him overboard and make a break for the open road.

Brother, you've had it! You pause for a free drink from a galling lit-tle ally and you are lucky to get away with your jeep. No one can come out ahead of the younger generation in these parts.

Words That Roll Off Your Tongue

Ed Hodges and the doctor were holding forth about how words only mean something when you think about them; and that a lot of words seem to lose their meaning just because they're used too glibly.

As the doctor put it, "They roll off your tongue without go-ing through your mind. Take tolerance for instance...some of the people who use it most understand it least."

From where I sit, it looks like the doctor is right. But tolerance is mighty easy to understand.

Five States to Observe Tur-key Day Nov. 30;
Ohio On 23rd

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The nation is split again on when to celebrate Thanksgiving day.

Five states, Florida, Idaho, Ne-braska, Texas and Virginia, plan to observe Nov. 30 through local choice. Forty-one states including Ohio and the District of Columbia have fixed Nov. 23 for the holiday, fol-lowing federal statute.

In two states, Arkansas and Georgia, there is a chance that both dates will be recognized.

The differences started in 1939 when President Roosevelt, in an ef-fort to provide a longer period be-tween Thanksgiving and Christmas, moved the date ahead one week. At that time, many governors ignored the change and fixed the "tradi-tional" date, the fourth or last Thursday in November, set origi-nally by President Lincoln in 1864.

In 1941, however, a house joint resolution was approved by the President, fixing the future date as the fourth Thursday. On top of this, many states enacted laws con-cerning the holiday.

STEEL FORMULA WON'T BE EASED EARLY, WLB SAYS

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—An official in the first circle of administration said today the Little Steel formula would be held where it is until victory in Europe or at least until military experts can safely name that day.

This is not considered as of today to be a pre-election possibility. Disclosure of what amounts to a request for comment on yesterday's War Labor board decision to omit recommendations from the forthcoming WLB report on wages and living costs.

The official, declining to be identified by name, said, in effect, that the administration would not tinker with the delicate balances of a wartime economy; that it would be time for a change only when the end of wartime pressures is clearly in sight. Production cutbacks following V-E day will relax competition for manpower.

The official's views coincide with impressions which some labor leaders got from President Roosevelt in a recent conference. According to authoritative information, stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson remarked in conversation recently that "on my honor" the Little Steel formula would not be broken.

The WLB report will go to the President via Vinson, so there is no telling when the papers actually will reach the President's desk. The board has not completed the report and there is a possibility it may spend two weeks debating it.

135 Wounded Arrive At Hospital In Ohio

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 12—Two trains bearing 135 wounded and sick veterans of the war in Europe arrived early today at the Fletcher General hospital here.

One train brought 107 veterans from the Stark General hospital at Charleston, S. C., and the 50 litter cases in that group was the largest number yet received here at one time. The other train brought 28 from the Halloran General hospital at Staten Island, New York.

Ohioans in the group brought from Stark hospital included: Capt. Rocco G. Marzino of Honola, 2nd Lt. Catherine E. Tigges of Trenton; and Pfc. Burton W. Harold of Bryan.

The men were wounded in Italy and Miss Tigges, a nurse became ill while serving there.

Two Ohioans on the train from Halloran hospital were Pvt. Wayne E. McLaughlin and Capt. Robert B. Heston, both of Newark. Both were wounded in France.

U. S. Using 5 Types Of Rocket Planes

ERIE PROVING GROUNDS, O., Oct. 12—Five different types of rocket-firing planes are now being used by the Army Air Forces to blast the Axis.

The Army disclosed the number of types of its planes so equipped yesterday in announcing that tests of rocket launching tubes have been underway at this laboratory of war for several months.

This war has seen rockets and the rocket plan of propulsion leap into prominence, but despite widespread use, they are still in the experimental stage. Development in the United States has been aimed primarily at air-to-ground and ground-to-ground use in combat, the Army announcement said.

"The Army Air Forces now has five different types of planes equipped with rockets slung under wing racks, which permit fighter, light bomber or attack planes to hurl greater concentrations of fire than their own cannon and machine guns can deliver," a proving ground spokesman declared.

"The only ground launcher which the army has so far made public is the M-12 artillery rocket launcher, consisting of a single plastic tube which serves both as a carrying case for its rocket and as a launcher."

NO CORN-HUSKING EVENT THIS YEAR

LISBON, Oct. 12—There will be no corn husking contest in Columbiana county this year, and, according to County Extension Agent Floyd Lower, there may never be another until the war with Germany and Japan is over.

Lower said no county contest was held last year because of the gasoline, tire and man power shortage, and the same rule prevails this year.

Speaks Tonight

Rev. J. W. Pattee, missionary who returned on the Gripsholm from internment at Taming, Hopei, North China, will speak at the Church of the Nazarene, 608 E. Second st., at 7:30 tonight.

Rev. Pattee was in China six years. During five years he saw fighting between the Japanese and the Chinese. He was in battle three times. When the war between Japan and America started, he was taken prisoner and interned for six months.

years, he is thoroughly conversant with Chinese history and customs, and is an interesting speaker.

Mrs. Matti, who has seen nearly 20 years of service in China, will give the sermon in the Sunday morning worship service at 11.

Miss Naylor, who first went to China in 1919, is now teaching in the Sebring public school. She will lead the devotions Saturday evening.

Miss Freer graduated from Cleveland Bible college last June. She will speak briefly in the Sunday morning service and again at the young people's meeting.

The convention has been planned for the purpose of stimulating missionary interest. Rev. R. E. Mosher, church pastor, announced.

The convention held last year resulted in the organization of the Men's Missionary movement among the men of the church. That group now has about 35 members.

The local church has three other missionary auxiliaries. The Esther Butler circle, the Ruth circle and the Elsie Matti circle. Each of the four groups will have a part in the convention program, particularly in providing special music.

Shipment of Bags for Milkweed Is Received

LISBON, Oct. 12—One thousand more bags to be used in the collection of milkweed pods have arrived at the Office of County Superintendent of Schools W. E. Roberts. This makes the second allotment of bags which have arrived to be used in the collection of the pods which are now ripe.

The pods are being collected by school children, Boy Scouts, 4-H clubs, and other school organizations. After collection the pods are placed in the bags and hung on fences where they will be collected by state highway patrolmen. After collection they will be brought to a central point in the county and shipped to a processing plant in Michigan where the floss will be extracted for use by the Navy in lifejackets.

ELECTIONS IN 11 STATES BANKING ON SOLDIER VOTE

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 12—The soldier vote may decide the election in at least 11 states—including the five with the largest number of electoral votes.

It may be the margin of victory in New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, California and Ohio, which cast a combined vote of 160 in the electoral college, as well as in Colorado, Kentucky, Maryland, Minnesota, Oregon and Rhode Island. The last six have a total of 46 electoral votes.

Thus G. I. Joe and his sisters in arms, an Associated Press survey indicates, already are casting the ballots which may determine whether 206 of the 531 electoral votes will go to President Roosevelt or to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Election officials and party leaders in each of the 11 states except New York have expressed the opinion that the military vote may be decisive. In New York the figures speak for themselves.

Nearly 450,000 New York service men and women have applied for ballots. Republican estimates of the number who actually will vote range up to 400,000. Even Democrats most critical of New York's soldier vote system, which does not provide for the federal ballot, agree that well over 200,000 G. I. votes will be cast. Nearly 167,000 had been returned a month before election day.

Roosevelt's New York state plurality in 1940 was 224,440. Herbert Hoover's in 1928 was 103,481. The margins run as close as Grover Cleveland's 1,149 in 1864.

From Ohio's Secretary of State Edward J. Hummel, who declined to estimate how many service persons from his state might vote, comes a statement that 125,000 soldier votes "might easily decide the election." Nearly 120,000 already have been received.

Held In Fatal Beating

AKRON, Oct. 12—A 34-year-old expectant mother was held on a first degree murder charge today in connection with the death of a dumping ground caretaker who was fatally beaten with a plank.

The victim, Frank C. Rickey, 54, suffered a skull fracture and died before an ambulance could rush him to a hospital last night.

Detective Captain Stephen McGowan said the woman, Mrs. Willis Johnson, a Negro, claimed Rickey slapped her 12-year-old son.

POLISH PREMIER REACHES MOSCOW

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Oct. 12 — Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk of the Polish government in exile reached Moscow today for negotiations with the Soviet-sponsored Polish Committee of National Liberation.

Accompanying the premier from London were Foreign Minister Tadeusz Romer, Prof. Ladislav Grabsky and Gen. Jabor, deputy chief of staff of the Polish army.

The Polish delegation flew in a converted four-engined British bomber put at their disposal by Prime Minister Churchill, who is here conferring with Marshal Stalin.

There was general belief that the Polish question would be settled one way or the other before Churchill leaves Moscow.

The importance of Polish reconciliation to the major Allies was admitted on all sides here.

Asked about the outlook, one member of the Polish delegation said: "We are hopeful."

The Soviet-sponsored Poles from Lublin were reported firm in demanding that the 1935 constitution be abandoned, that the president of Poland be shorn of his powers and that the Lublin commander in chief, Col. Gen. Rola Zymierski be head of the Polish armed forces.

It is believed Mikolajczyk will assume the premiership of the merged Polish regimes if unity is achieved.

During war the U. S. flag may be flown day and night if it is for patriotic purposes.

The War Today

old German trick of issuing liquor to get the men drunk. We saw plenty of that in the last war when the Kaiser's command used rum to keep troops up for suicidal attacks. Prisoners from Aachen say that as a final resort their officers stood guard and shot all they could of their men who were trying to cross into the American lines.

Of course one swallow doesn't make a summer, and one Aachen can't speak for all Germany. Still we are entitled to conclude that Hitler is far from having either the civilian population or his soldiery solidly behind him. Certainly a considerable amount of the "loyalty" which is being rendered him is inspired by the scourge wielded by Himmler the hangman and his Gestapo.

On the Allied side, we now have provided a wholly unequivocal example of what will happen to other places which resist. Will the German people stand by while their cities endure the throes of Aachen's terrible death? We have seen that some of them won't. But if the majority want war to a finish, they can have it. The great guns of the American First army, which are pouring destruction into Aachen as this is written, guarantee that.

Today's News From Washington

BIG COCOA imports won't ease the civilian chocolate shortage. Quotas now are restricted to 70 percent of 1941 use, and the trade predicts, will stay unchanged through the first quarter of 1945.

September imports (644,420 bags) were the third largest ever recorded, but only served to bring shipments up to the 1943 level. Meanwhile, military demands have increased sharply and the industry is expecting large orders for European relief distribution.

LANDRY SOAP will be scarcer this winter. The Army has just notified the industry that it will need three times as much yellow soap during the next six months as it is currently receiving. This, it is estimated, will cut the civilian supply in half.

Soap flakes and granules are also short, but toilet soap supplies are managing to keep up with demand, except for occasional shortages of particular brands.

COFFEE IMPORTERS think the "price strike" staged by Brazilian and Colombian producers can be broken if the U. S. Government wants to get tough. Growers in both major producing areas still demand more than American importers can pay under domestic ceiling prices.

Imports of the beverage bean are restricted to a quota basis by international agreement. Remove all quotas, says the industry, and smaller suppliers will jump at the chance to take over a bigger share of the U. S. market.

SUGAR SHORTAGES will ease in a few weeks.

Two major factors contribute to the improving outlook:

1. New crop beet sugar will come to the rescue in the Midwest. This will relieve the strain on labor-short eastern cane refineries who have had to supply this market as well as their normal territory.

2. Consumption is falling off seasonally. The canning season, for example, will be over in a couple of weeks. Refineries report that for the first time in months their shipments are exceeding new orders.

FLAXSEED MILLS along the Atlantic Coast fear they must close soon for lack of raw material to process into linseed oil. These mills represent a third of the nation's capacity. With a U. S. flax crop half the size of last year's, the seed will be crushed in by mills in the areas where it is grown.

BLAW-KNOX CO. will build a U. S.-financed plant, costing $400,000, in Philadelphia with an initial scheduled output of 150,000 tons annually of packaged household fuel. The fuel will be made from soft and hard coals, processed into cubes weighing a little over a pound, which will be distributed six cubes to the package. The project was designed by the Government to alleviate household fuel shortages.

Among objects which in the past have served as money are metals, furs, sheep, skins, cattle, skulls, grains, tobacco, olive oil and salt.

PIN-WORMS At Last—A Real Treatment!

You may not realize how many of your neighbors—grown-ups as well as children—have Pin-Worms at this very moment. People don't talk about this nasty infection. Sometimes they are too embarrassed to mention the tormenting rectal itching; and up to now they have usually suffered in silence because they have not known of any effective way to deal with this dreadful pest that lives inside the human body.

Important Medical Discovery
Today, thanks to a valuable scientific discovery, a remarkable new treatment has been made possible. It is based on a special drug, known as gentian violet. This drug is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm tablets developed by Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines. P-W tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special, gentle way to destroy Pin-Worms.

It is very easy to "catch" this nasty infection, and the ugly creatures can cause real distress. So watch for the signs that may mean Pin-Worms: itching seat, uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, nervous fidgeting. If you suspect Pin-Worms, get a box of P-W right away and follow the simple directions carefully.

P-W means Pin-Worm relief!

Quakers Rated As Underdogs In Wellsville Game Tomorrow

Injuries Keep Franks, Lanney, Mulford, Paparodis On Bench As Bengals Appear In Force

Left Halfback	Kelly	142 130	Handley
Right Halfback	Boone	157 140	Stewart
Fullback	Boone	160 185	Checkler

Looking like a "wheel chair brigade," the Salem Quakers will go into battle at 7:45 p. m. tomorrow at Kelly field against the Wellsville Bengals as underdogs for the first time this season.

Rated under the Bengals, who will appear here at full strength, Coach Ben Barrett's starting lineup will be considerably altered from the first four games this year.

Game and practice injuries mounting every day — have the Quakers down to their lowest strength this season. Consequently, the Bengals, though without a win in four tries, are rated as the favorites in the annual Columbiana county clash here tomorrow.

Out of the starting group this week will be Charlie Franks, star fullback, Francis Lanney, triple threat left half, and John Mulford, left tackle. All three were injured within the past week, Franks in the Lectoria game and the others in practice Monday.

Besides these three veterans, Barrett will not be able to count on big Tom Paparodis for the fullback spot.

To top off the serious plight of Salem High gridiron injuries this week, John Plegge, powerful Quaker lineman and starting right guard, received a knee injury in practice yesterday and may be out of the game tomorrow.

Plegge, who has gone without injury in his two years of play, has a strong desire to be in the game tomorrow and declares he will be, but his injury may prove too troublesome.

spot, and another assistant at that job, Jack Hestrom, also on the hospital list.

Consequently, Barrett is bringing into action one of the most promising backs among the peppy Sophomore group, Marion Fiana, 160 pound second year man, just 14 years old, will probably get the starting berth at full.

Also in the backfield will be Ray "Hard Luck" Kelly, a regular starter, who has been having ball carrying troubles in the past two games. Bob Boone, another fine footed Sophomore, will take over the right half job and "Iron Man" Jay Leach will be in his regular quarterback socket.

John Mulford, left tackle, was shaken up in practice Monday and will not draw a starting job. Ernie Kornbau will take over his duties and promises to make a good job of it. Tom Bush who started at right end the first three games, will be back in at the beginning, replacing Dick Gotschling, Sophomore, who started last week. Bush has recovered from a long injury and looks promising this week.

Neither Franks nor Lanney, Salem's two most able ball-carriers to date, will see any action Friday, Barrett says. This loss will hinder Quaker power a great deal and definitely gives the edge to the visitors.

Other minor injuries are endangering the talents of Jimmie Appedisan, Louis Juliano and End Walt Brian, so all in all the Salem picture is far from rosy this week.

Wellsville has lost four games, three of them by small margins. Sciencerville took them in the opener 7-6, then Steubenville Central smashed them 20-0, Chester won 6-0 in a thriller and last week Toronto's powerhouse checked out a 6-0 win.

In all four contests the losers showed immense possibilities and late reports from Coach Ingalls say the team is greatly improved over the early starts and is ready for battle here tomorrow. Ingalls is confident his team will give a good account of itself and is cheered by the fact that Salem was dropped last week by a Class B aggregation.

The first typewriter on record was one designed by Henry Mill, who patented it in 1714.

HERE'S A GLANCE AROUND MID-WEST GRIDIRON CAMPS

Brotherly Love to Have Test In Northwestern-Michigan Game

BY JAN HARTNETT

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—That brotherly love stuff will get a real test Saturday when Duane and Quentin Sikkels, who played one year of high school football side by side, as tackle and end, on a Benton Harbor (Mich.) Championship eleven, face each other as Northwestern clashes with Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Duane, a Sophomore, regular left end for Northwestern, will be pitted against his 17-year-old kinsman Quentin, the Wolverines' starting Freshman right guard. The Wildcats will be seeking to break into the win column against Michigan for the first time since the Purple scored a 7-0 victory in 1937.

Freshman Spark Attack
Freshman Johnny Yungworth and Dick Connors will spearhead Northwestern's attack, bolstered by the return of Freshman Bill Roper, who has been out of action with a leg injury.

Around other Midwestern camps: Notre Dame yesterday wound up its hard work for the Dartmouth game at Boston. Coach Ed McKeever said he would start the same eleven that took the field against Tulane last Saturday. Indiana worked on aerial offense, with Bob Hoernschemeyer and Ben Raimondi doing the passing.

Purdue concentrated on building a defense to stop the versatile attack of the Iowa Pre-Flight Seahawks. Coach Cecil Leibel said he would start pat on the lineup that saw most of the action against Illinois last week. At Iowa City, Lt. Comm. Jack Meagher said he would probably start Don Samuel and Bob Sullivan at the half-back posts for the Seahawks.

Madigan To Switch
John Smith is out of the lineup with a broken collarbone. Coach Slip Madigan yesterday shifted Center Forrest Masterson to right tackle post in the first what he said would be some "rather extensive" changes in the University of Iowa line.

An injured arm, suffered last week kept Don Cusack, regular University of Wisconsin center from drills and Coach Harry Stuhldreher yesterday groomed Bob Fick and Jack Haese to take over his duties for the Ohio State encounter.

Coach Carroll Widdoes moved Warren Amling, starting tackle, to right guard to replace injured Bill Hackett in the Buckeye line. Amling's place was filled by Russ Thomas, a sophomore.

News reached Minneapolis that Lt. Col. Bernie Bierman, former basketball grid coach, is homeward bound and is on the Gopher bench Saturday when Minnesota faces Missouri. Marquette's squad, riddled by injuries, took it easy in a light drill. Coach Tom Stidham named fullback Bob Teik team captain for Saturday's game with Lawrence.

Harold Johnson was being groomed to replace injured Fred Aronson at right halfback in Michigan State's lineup for Kansas State contest.

The force of gravity at the surface of the sun is said to be 27 times greater than that at the surface of the earth.

IX
The next day was a Sunday and Walt usually consecrated it to late sleep and golf. But he lashed himself awake with a long cold shower, dressed in his best and fell in alongside Margaret when she went to church.

She was very much dressed up, and so was her face. She wore a public smile of Sabbath sweetness, but she did not speak to Walt at all.

As they went home she said: "I'm sorry we quarreled, Walter. I'm sorry I was so cross with you."

"Why, Margaret?" he gasped in a rush of hope.

"It's my duty to be more patient and forbearing with you," she went on. "I just wanted you to know that I forgive you."

After luncheon Margaret heaved herself out of her creaking chair, and her voice cracked:

"I'm going to get out of these tight things."

"While you're all dressed up and looking so swell, why not come out to the country club?"

"And sit like a bump on a log while you chase a ball round the links? Humph!"

"I'll not play. I'll sit with you."

"You'll blame me for keeping you from playing. I know you. I'd be happier at home by myself."

She was turning into a mere vegetable that sits still and fattens where it takes root. He flared up:

"Margaret, it begins to look as if you'd given up all idea of any duty to yourself, not to mention me. Do you think married life is a pay-as-you-enter car, and a nickel's worth of love at the beginning entitles you to ride to the end of the line?"

Well, if it is, let me tell you there's no such thing. If this is your idea of a home—well, it's not mine."

"What's her name?" she said.

"I don't know yet," he answered, and flung out of the house in a rage of more fear than fury.

At the club he looked about for Tom Beckley, but he and Sue were going round the links together with Bob Dunbar and his wife. Walt knew few men at the club and he was feeling lost and forlorn when he heard a voice that put a deal of withery in three syllables:

"Oh, hello!"

He turned and faced Mrs. Drummond.

"Hello yourself!" he answered with a wit that delighted them both. His heart began racing like a silly pup that has broken its leash and is running wild in free world.

"I've had enough golf for today," said Mrs. Drummond. "I was just going in for a swim."

"A grand idea," he said. She was a forward thing, but he could go forward too.

"I'll meet you here?" said she with a rising inflection.

He kept a swimming suit at the clubhouse, which he now entered with a sense of wild adventure.

He came out to find Mrs. Drummond waiting. She had a light robe about her, but its shapelessness seemed to proclaim, by its clinging concealment, what shapelessness was beneath. She was to Walt bewitchingly beautiful, dazzling. Her bathing cap gave her a Grecian look. His eyes were flooded with such admiration that he looked away from her uneasily.

The glance he flung over his shoulder revealed his wife watching him.

He looked as guilty as she took him to be, but she looked triumphant. He had justified all her suspicions. She had caught him in a secret rendezvous with a—her very eyes seemed to say "harlot."

When she came slowly down to them, Margaret said:

"After you left, Walt, I changed my mind and took a taxicab out. I saw you going into the clubhouse to change, but you didn't see me—naturally."

She put a lot of venom into that. He managed to stammer an introduction of a sort and he felt himself a traitor when he could not help noticing the difference between the two women. Mrs. Drummond was superb in carriage and terribly alive in mind and in flesh. Margaret was like a week's wash tied up somehow in a laundry bag of ornate silk, bulging here and drawn in there and likely to break out at any moment. On top of the laundry was a head, a face like the pained face of a doll.

Walt could see that Margaret's chief emotion was terror. She was more frightened, more desperately afraid than she had ever been before. She was downing and dooming.

But Mrs. Drummond was so demure in her superiorities that Walt suddenly turned against her. Old loyalties to his old love, his family, his home recaptured him. Yet Mrs. Drummond dared to assume an ownership in him.

"Your husband and I are just going in for a swim," she said. "Won't you join us?"

"Me?" said Margaret. "Heavens on earth, I haven't swum since I don't know when. My daughter does all the swimming for our family. That's her out in the pool now, just taking off from the diving board with Tom Beckley."

"Oh yes! Beautiful girl," said Mrs. Drummond. "I met her last night. I have three daughters of my own and I have a devil of a time trying to keep up with them. Yet they think I'm fast—or something."

"Three daughters? You have three? Well, my one don't approve of me either," said Margaret with the hollowest of laughs. "As I always say—"

She went rattling on with stupid generalizations and ancient jokes. Walt must have loved her mightily because he took shame for her bad showing.

(To Be Concluded)

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly In Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH today at any drug store.
